We are asking to raise the deposit amount from $400 to $500 for 2024 and up to $600 for 2025 for University Villages and Lewis & Clark Villages. Students are withdrawing from classes and are leaving their apartments in horrible conditions. The $400 deposit does not cover the damages. Because the students do not re-enroll, we are experiencing a high amount of bad debt because they are not paying their damage bills. Raising the deposit will help to cover damages and incur bad debt which all students in housing end up subsidizing.	C

The courses for which we are requesting increases have expenses that outstrip the fees collected from students by 2-5X. These are courses that use chemicals and reagents that have greatly increased in cost in recent years. The increases requested do not bring us up to 100% of fees to cover expenses for each course, but they do bring us to 50-100%. Academic Budgets and Personnel, Office of the Provost	FCFC Non-major course fees	FORS	130	194-104-R0521	Per Course	72	544 735	76	5.56%	79	3.95%	#####	To cover the costs associated with experiential, field, lab, and writing intensive coursework for classes in forestry, wildlife, and natural resources management. To cover the costs associated with experiential, field, lab, and writing intensive coursework for classes in forestry, wildlife, and natural resources management. These costs include personnel, supplies, travel and personnel costs. WILDERNESS and CIVILIZATION - NRS273 The Wilderness and Civilization (WC) program (NRS273) is a unique, immersive program where students take only WC courses for the entire fall semester (e.g. block semester). The field learning component engages students for multiple weeks and overnights across Wilderness areas in Montana. This high-impact learning requires extensive field equipment, permits for backcountry areas, transportation, sustenance, lodging, and additional support. Increased transportation costs through the elimination of the UM Motorpool and use of Enterprise rental vehicles and added expenses associated with safety necessitate an increased fee. The fee charged to FCFC majors is reduced by the program tuition these are students already charged. The proposed fees are increased by a 5% inflationary factor each of the two years. The Wilderness Institute has scholarship funds available for eligible students. YELLOWSTONE - NRS374 This course is open to all students at University of Montana and is not a required course for any major. This value-added experience	All non-majors taking credits in the WA Franke College of Forestry and Conservation (FCFC) will have a program fee that helps cover the costs associated with experiential, field, lab, and writing intensive coursework. For the next two years we will raise the program fee by 5% for non-majors to assist with the transportation costs associated with the loss of the UM Motorpool. The fee for NRS211 (formerly NRS210) is $72 in AY22/23 like most other courses in this category. The proposed fee of $76 for 2024 and $79 for 2025 is the same 5% inflationary increase requested for most courses non-major courses. The detail code for this is S675 and fees are placed in MFR008. College of Humanities and Sciences	Neuroscience Lab Fee	NEUR	458W		Per Course			60	100.0%	60	0.00%		To cover the cost of consumable supplies, laboratory supplies, materials and specimens.	This course is a capstone team-taught laboratory course that introduces students to current methods and techniques used in neuroscience research. The sections include electrophysiology, neuronal cell culture and imaging techniques. To implement these cutting-edge experiments, considerable reagents are required including cell culture medium ($600/bottle), antibodies ($65/ml (primary), $325 (secondary)), buffers, and oocytes ($60/batch, multiple batches needed depending on student number) to name a few. NEUR 458W is required for all graduating neuroscience majors and our student numbers are increasing. We are excited to continue to offer this unique course that trains students for the scientific workforce while increasing their scientific knowledge.	C
College of Humanities and Sciences	Earth System Science Lab Fee	ERTH	103N		Per Course			50	100.0%	50	0.00%		To cover the cost of consumable supplies, laboratory supplies, materials and specimens.	This course is an introductory laboratory course that is taught face to face and online introducing students to the practice of scientific inquiry and modeling in the broad field of Earth sciences. Lab equipment for this course is expendable and needs replacement regularly (e.g. mineral and rock samples $30/set, hydrochloric acid, pipettes, tubing and tubs $10/set, hand lenses $5/each) and the online course requires a kit for each student that we assemble in house ($50 for materials and $15 for shipping). A publisher-manufactured kit would save us the labor time of making these kits, but would cost the students $400 and does not meet the place-based customized learning experience that we have meticulously crafted for our University of Montana students. This course meets the General Education Natural Science lab requirement that all students need for graduation from the University of Montana.	C

It will help cover annual costs associated with NASPAA (the Network of Schools of Public Policy, Affairs, and Administration), and offer field trips for students to network with local and state practitioners. It will also help with costs associated to support MPA programming and instructions (e.g., orientations and workforce training, alumni peer mentoring program for students, hire adjuncts to teach practicums to enhance the educational experience for our students, public service training, stipend for MPA Director, support for internships and independent students, recruitment tools). Students enrolled in the joint MPA/MPH program should not be charged double fees. Simply, the fee follows the student in the class they are enrolled (PUAD or PH). This fee will support MPA programming and instruction.	Inflationary impacts across all operating expenses of the DPAP Program require a higher fee to continue to meet accreditation standards and offer necessary programming and operational support. In addition to the 5% inflationary increase, FCFC will raise the program fee by $18 for all FCFC students to assist with the transportation costs associated with the elimination of the UM Motorpool. A long-term solution is for the FCFC to purchase 2-3 vehicles from the former UM Motorpool or similar to help recoup transportation costs. The elimination of the UM Motorpool increased our transportation costs by 90% with the transition to Enterprise. FCFC will realize enough savings in vehicle costs in three years by purchasing vehicles versus renting from Enterprise. It is the intention to remove the additional program fee after the AY24/25 years. FCFC will reassess transportation costs and program tuition at that time.		C

To cover the costs associated with experiential, field, lab, and writing intensive coursework for classes in forestry, wildlife, and natural resources management. These costs include personnel, supplies, travel and personnel costs. WILDERNESS and CIVILIZATION - NRS273 The Wilderness and Civilization (WC) program (NRS273) is a unique, immersive program where students take only WC courses for the entire fall semester (e.g. block semester). The field learning component engages students for multiple weeks and overnights across Wilderness areas in Montana. This high-impact learning requires extensive field equipment, permits for backcountry areas, transportation, sustenance, lodging, and additional support. Increased transportation costs through the elimination of the UM Motorpool and use of Enterprise rental vehicles and added expenses associated with safety necessitate an increased fee. The fee charged to FCFC majors is reduced by the program tuition these are students already charged. The proposed fees are increased by a 5% inflationary factor each of the two years. The Wilderness Institute has scholarship funds available for eligible students. YELLOWSTONE - NRS374 This course is open to all students at University of Montana and is not a required course for any major. This value-added	All non-majors taking credits in the WA Franke College of Forestry and Conservation (FCFC) will have a program fee that helps cover the costs associated with experiential, field, lab, and writing intensive coursework. For the next two years we will raise the program fee by 5% for non-majors to assist with the transportation costs associated with the loss of the UM Motorpool. The fee for NRS211 (formerly NRS210) is $72 in AY22/23 like most other courses in this category. The proposed fee of $76 for 2024 and $79 for 2025 is the same 5% inflationary increase requested for most courses non-major courses. The detail code for this is S675 and fees are placed in MFR008. This course is a capstone team-taught laboratory course that introduces students to current methods and techniques used in neuroscience research. The sections include electrophysiology, neuronal cell culture and imaging techniques. To implement these cutting-edge experiments, considerable reagents are required including cell culture medium ($600/bottle), antibodies ($65/ml (primary), $325 (secondary)), buffers, and oocytes ($60/batch, multiple batches needed depending on student number) to name a few. NEUR 458W is required for all graduating neuroscience majors and our student numbers are increasing. We are excited to continue to offer this unique course that trains students for the scientific workforce while increasing their scientific knowledge.	C
College of Humanities and Sciences	Earth System Science Lab Fee	ERTH	103N		Per Course		50	100.0%	50	0.00%		To cover the cost of consumable supplies, laboratory supplies, materials and specimens.	This course is an introductory laboratory course that is taught face to face and online introducing students to the practice of scientific inquiry and modeling in the broad field of Earth sciences. Lab equipment for this course is expendable and needs replacement regularly (e.g. mineral and rock samples $30/set, hydrochloric acid, pipettes, tubing and tubs $10/set, hand lenses $5/each) and the online course requires a kit for each student that we assemble in house ($50 for materials and $15 for shipping). A publisher-manufactured kit would save us the labor time of making these kits, but would cost the students $400 and does not meet the place-based customized learning experience that we have meticulously crafted for our University of Montana students. This course meets the General Education Natural Science lab requirement that all students need for graduation from the University of Montana.	C

9   Whereas, The primary responsibility of the Associated Students of the University of Montana
10 (“ASUM”) is to advocate for the wellbeing of all students<sup>1</sup>;

11
12   Whereas, ASUM has endorsed the modification of fees and the student fee schedule in 13 circumstances where the changes benefit students and provide a more accurate representation of 14 the relationship between fees and operations;

15
16   Whereas, In 1990, the University of Montana (“UM”) Recycling Fee was first introduced and 17 adopted by ASUM to provide all Mountain Campus buildings with recycling service;

18
19   Whereas, In 2001, ASUM voted to increase the Recycling Fee<sup>2</sup>;

The Associated Students of the University of Montana
Resolution Approving the FY24 Fee Schedule
SB38-22/23

April 12th, 2023

Authored by: Elizabeth Bowles, ASUM President; Joselyn Jolly, ASUM Business Manager; Alex Berna, ASUM Vice President;

Whereas, The Associated Students of the University of Montana ("ASUM") represents the interests of the students of the University of Montana ("UM");

Whereas, The University intends to implement a less imposing "Documents fee" on student registration bills in an effort to eliminate graduation and transcript fees upon completion of getting a degree;

Whereas, The University is planning to transition out the "Online Fee", which requires additional fees for students taking online courses, and implement a minimal technology fee for all students;

Whereas, The University administration values students input on the cost of attendance, and therefore has asked ASUM to review the fee schedule;

Whereas, Planning for fiscal year 2024, fees are projected to increase 3%;

Whereas, ASUM understands that making UM a better place through a higher quality of services requires generation of revenue;

Whereas, UM Administration is sensitive to the cost for all students and seeks to offer aid packages that make UM financially accessible;

Whereas, In order to mitigate UM needs and student needs regarding the topic of registration cost, it is important to gather student input to ensure both perspectives;

Therefore, Let it Be Resolved, That ASUM approves and supports the tuition and fee schedule for FY24;

Therefore, Let it Be Further Resolved, That this resolution be sent to: Paul Lasiter, Vice President for Finance and Operations;
